1. County Role Call Updates:

Utah County – Mike Leifson: Utah County completed a report concerning fertilizer and pesticide use. All communities have signed off on the interlocal agreement between the cities and the County. The county will have a $30,000 annual budget for it's portion of the education program. Materials for the school programs have been developed.

Davis County – Kim Wallace, The county has budgeted for ordinance development.

Salt Lake County – Terry Way, The County had a successful vendor-training seminar. Erosion and sediment control vendors installed their products on site. New television spots have been produced and are airing on the local news. The county has been active in wet weather monitoring.

2. Training Opportunities:

Judy Watanabe with the Utah Flood Plain Managers Association gave a presentation and passed out a request for papers for the annual conference. This is the tenth year of the conference. It is the goal of the flood plain managers to include more storm water outreach and materials. The conference will have a full day of storm water related presentations.

The Environmental Protection Agency is hosting an MS4 training that will be held in one state in each of the EPA regions. The training will be video broadcast in Salt Lake City on August 4th and 5th. The video broadcast will take place in the DEQ building room 101. More information will be distributed.

3. CWA Section 319 Funding

Rand Fisher with the Division of Water Quality gave a presentation about the State nonpoint source program and the use of 319 funds for Phase II storm water projects. Funding will be prioritized for on ground projects which can show a direct water quality improvement. Funding will be given to projects with higher percentage of match funding. Match must be at least 40 percent of requested amount. Rand spoke about the benefits of low impact development.

4. Subcommittee Reports

Construction Permits -- The subcommittee will meet on July 8 at the Salt Lake County building to discuss specifics. The issue is still whether or not separate requirements for end of pipe sw treatment should be pursued by the state.

Annual Reports -- A draft annual report is available on the State website. The annual report will be put into final draft and distributed at the next SWAC meeting.

Next SWAC meeting will be Tuesday, July 13, 2004, Room 114, Cannon Health Building, 288 North 1460 West, Salt Lake City. Telephone call in # is (801) 538-9012.
